"The 2007 Football Season is one that best represents the efforts that are being made to build a strong sense of brotherhood among the player and restoring pride. Our team record was 0-9 this year. However, there were many successes throughout the year. As a team we begin to learn how to play for and with one another. One team with one heartbeat and we truly started to learn how to embrace hard work, dedication, and commitment. In life we must love what we labor for that which we love. The Hawks will continue to put in their work and over time you will start to see the results of that work." --Coach Minor--

The Gay-Straight-Alliance (GSA) is more than what you think; it's not just for gay people but for everyone who supports Gay, Lesbian, Bi-sexual, Transgender, or questioning (GLBTQ) people. You should just be yourself and be proud of what you are. You are who you choose to be no matter the gender or life style. It's okay to be GLBTQ, everyone should get along or at least respect one another. It doesn't matter who you are or what gender you choose to be, you're still a human being that deserves respect.
